Removing the Rayzar Automatic TV Antenna (if already roof mounted)

1. Using a 7/16" socket wrench, remove the hex nuts (3) from each post on the feet of the antenna.
2. Disconnect the coax cable from the antenna and lift the antenna from the posts. Discard the 3 removed hex nuts and set the antenna aside.

Installing the Mount

3. Position the mount with one of the feet facing the rear of the vehicle as shown in the diagram. With a pencil or marker, trace around each foot (3).
4. Clean the roof area where the mount feet will attach to the roof without erasing your traced marks. Apply approved sealant (not provided) in the areas marked for the feet.
5. Now, align the mount feet with the areas marked for the mount feet and place onto the sealant. Install three mounting screws per mount foot, and tighten. Add additional sealant over the screws (9).
6. Next, place the Rayzar Automatic TV antenna onto the mount with the coax F-Jack on the antenna base facing the rear of the vehicle. The molded feet will fit onto the 3 threaded posts of the mount. Use the provided hex nuts (3) to secure these feet to the threaded posts.
7. Lastly, if needed, connect the provided coax jumper cable to the existing coax cable and to the coax F-Jack on the antenna base.
